Handling Data:

Let's take another rest day from time and look at handling data, using charts and graphs. Have a look at this online lesson and have a go at the activities:
https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/zsrgp4j

I appreciate that looking through these activities there is quite a lot of work. On activity 2, scroll down until you get to 'Level 2'. This should be suitable for most children. Activity 3 is an optional extra.

Answers:

English – Monday 22nd June

SPaG Starter:

Circle the inverted commas in the passage below.

"We need to turn left here, Dad," said Layla. "Otherwise we will end up going the wrong way again!"

"Are you sure, Layla?" asked Dad. "I'm pretty sure we need to turn right!"

Read this sentence. Underline the subordinate clause.

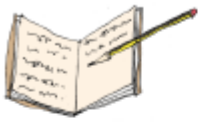
We are going to Cornwall on holiday because we like the scenery there.

Magical Stories:

Word work – prepositions



When writing about settings, you often want to tell the reader where things are and this is where prepositions are really useful. Look at these prepositions and prepositional phrases: in the middle, next to, under, above, below and inside.

* Here are some sentences from the story. Circle all of the prepositions you can find. (Watch out! Some sentences have more than one preposition.) The answers are at the back of the booklet.

1) Sammy began to explore and it wasn't long before a book, perched precariously on a high shelf, caught his eye.
2) Sammy found himself inside the trunk of a large tree.
3) In the middle of the room, a magnificent feast was laid out on a large woven willow table.
4) In the centre was an enormous cake covered in rainbow icing and on the top over a hundred candles burned brightly.

Now you have a go... can you write 3 sentences that includes a preposition?

10 things found in a Tree Goblin's suitcase

One thing all goblins have in common is that they love to collect things. Tree Goblins collect things in suitcases but other goblins collect things in knapsacks, baskets or bags.

* Have a look at this picture of Treerumple's suitcase.
* What can you see inside it?

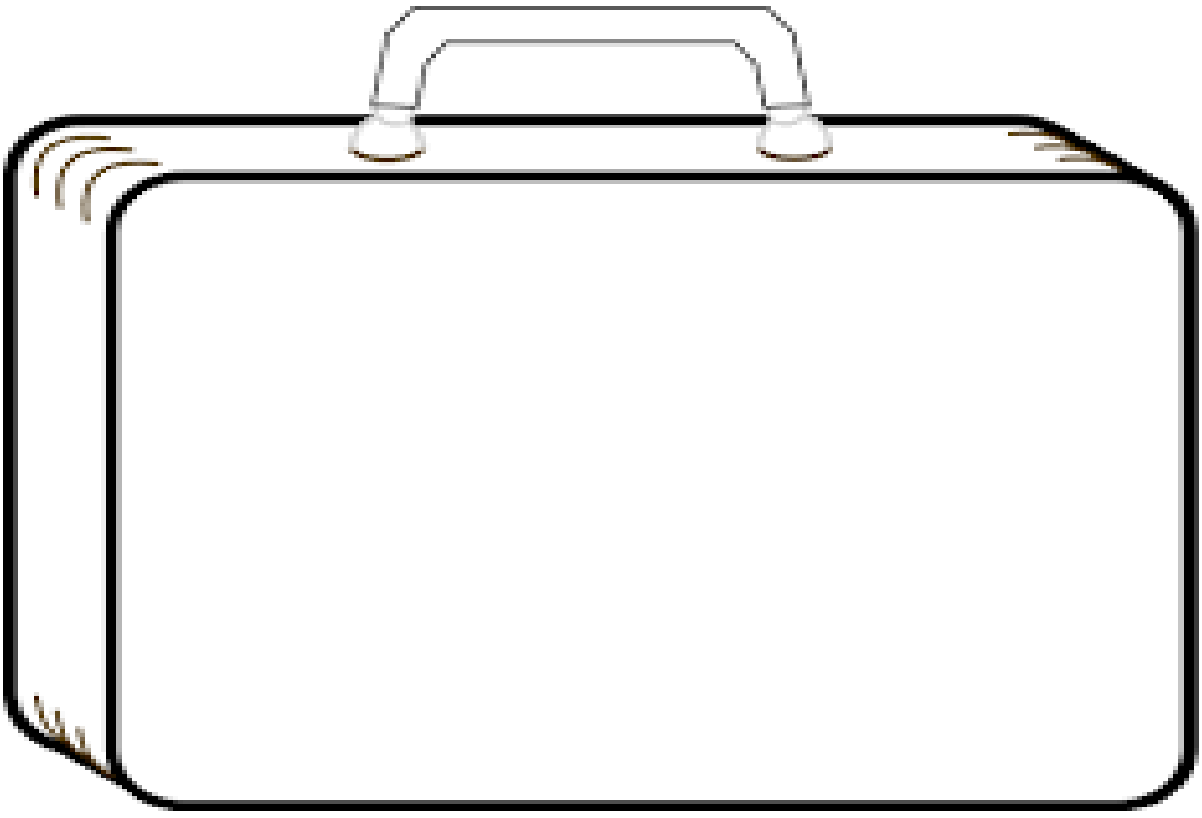
Thank you @clairewiththeredhair for the images

This suitcase is made out of a matchbox. Can you make a basket, box, bag or suitcase for your goblin – what will you find or make to put in it? If you can't make it, you could draw and label a picture.



History – Monday 22nd June

Today we are going to explore some Ancient Egyptian Artefacts. Have a look at this video: https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zg87xnb/articles/zr7qy9q/

Today, I'd like you to put your thinking hats on. You are going to become Archaeologists. The job of an archaeologist is to help interpret finds from the past. Below are a series of actually Ancient Egyptian objects. The trouble with look at ancient history is that we don't have any first hand sources, so information has to be interpreted (someone has to guess). Our thinking on what happened in the past and what objects were used for often changes as we find more artefacts. Have a think, what do you think each of these objects are used for?

Okay, let's take this one step further. Have a look at these objects. Can you match the Ancient Egyptian Artefact to its modern equivalent? Then have go at guessing what the Ancient Egyptian artefact was for:
