I have attached two useful online guides for parents which I hope you find useful.

PARENT CONSULTATIONS

At the end of this term, we will be holding our spring term teacher consultations with parents. This term we will be doing things slightly differently. Previously teachers have undertaken consultations with parents on two days after school, often running late into the evenings. In light of teacher workload and well-being, teachers will now be given release time from classroom duties for one afternoon so they can commence consultations straight after lunch on that day. Consultations will be held virtually.

Teachers will contact you directly to let you know when they will be available so that you can book your appointment. Targets will be sent home the week before the consultations so that they can be discussed at the meeting.

CAREERS RELATED LEARNING

We have had a fantastic response to our new careers-related assemblies. The children have loved hearing about a range of professions. Each presentation has helped them to think about what they aspire to be when they grow up and how this relates to their learning in class and our whole school learning behaviours. All spring dates have now been filled but I am now starting to compile a timetable for the summer term. If you are interested in
